Make a snow globe

What you'll need:

- An old jar (or you can buy a snow globe from a craft shop)
- Glycerine
- Artificial snow (which you can get from craft shops) or glitter
- Water
- Plastic figurine (or you can make your own animal, like a reindeer, snowman, or a Santa, from polymer clay)
- Strong glue

How to make your snow globe

- First of all, decide if you'd like to use a plastic figurine for your snow globe, or if you'd like to make a clay animal. If you're using a plastic figurine that you already have, hop on to the next step! If you're making your own, we recommend using polymer clay (which you can get from craft shops), for creating your figurine. Once you're happy with what you've made, bake it according to packet instructions and then leave to cool! What will you make? Santa? A reindeer? A penguin? Or a cat or dog?
- Using the glue, stick your figurine to the jam jar lid (you may need an adult to help with this)
- Add 3 tablespoons of glycerine to the jam jar and pour in water so that it's about ¾ full. Give it a stir, then add in 2 tablespoons of artificial snow/glitter. Top up with a bit more water if needed.
- Screw the jam jar lid on tightly and give your globe a good shake. All that's left is to admire your lovely, snowy scene! Don't forget to show all your friends!
